Rangeley Capital Welcomes Jeremy Raper as Partner to Lead International Deep Value and Special Situations Strategy

New Canaan, CT– October 23, 2026 – Rangeley Capital LLC, a value-oriented investment firm specializing in event-driven and special situations, today announced that Jeremy Raper is joining the firm as a Partner and Portfolio Manager, where he will lead Rangeley’s special opportunities strategy.

Mr. Raper brings over 15 years of experience investing across global equity and debt capital markets, with particular expertise in deep-value, complex capital structures, and active shareholder engagement. He is the founder of Raper Capital, an investment firm well known for identifying overlooked and mispriced securities and leading activist campaigns in markets across the world.

In his new role, Mr. Raper will oversee a dedicated strategy focused on identifying the same compelling investment opportunities that he has specialized in for the past 10 years. The strategy will invest globally across sectors and market capitalizations, drawing on Mr. Raper’s experience in fundamental research, capital structure analysis, and constructive shareholder engagement.

“We are thrilled to welcome Jeremy to Rangeley,” said Chris DeMuth Jr., Founder and Chief Executive Officer of Rangeley Capital. “He is a demonstrably brilliant thinker. Jeremy has distinguished himself as a thoughtful, disciplined investor with an exceptional ability to uncover value in complex and often overlooked situations. His global perspective, rigorous analytical approach, and willingness to engage directly with companies make him a natural fit for our investment philosophy. We believe his addition meaningfully strengthens our investment capabilities and expands the opportunities we can pursue on behalf of our investors.”

Prior to founding Raper Capital, Mr. Raper held positions across the buy-side and sell-side, beginning his career at Goldman Sachs in Tokyo.

The addition of Mr. Raper reflects Rangeley’s commitment to building a differentiated investment platform, specializing in opportunities that are frequently overlooked or misunderstood.
